QUOTES FROM "Shi-shi-etko"

"... as she watched sunlight dance butterfly kisses across her mother's sleeping face."

"... the wild roses bloom in spring and the salmon have returned to our river..."

"... voice traveled from tree to tree, flowing through the valley, caught by the wind, carried on the wings of eagles in flight..."

"... tall grass swaying to the rhythm of the breeze, determined mosquitoes, working bumblebees..."

"... the sky was changing, navy to brilliant blue."