

Students at Burnaby Mountain Secondary were part of a new basketball team this year that's the first of its kind in the Burnaby School District. Called Unified Basketball, the team is made up of students with disabilities and diverse abilities, along with neurotypical youth and athletes.

Unified Sports is a model in the Special Olympics that promotes social inclusion and integrates